Welcome to the zany and hilarious realm of Loony Limericks from CGP, where every rhyme is a chuckle-inducing masterpiece. These side-splitting poems are guaranteed to bring a smile to your face and a giggle to your lips.

What Are Loony Limericks?

Loony Limericks are a type of limerick, a traditional five-line poem with a specific rhyme scheme and meter. Loony Limericks take this classic form and inject it with a healthy dose of absurdity and humor.

The first, second, and fifth lines rhyme, while the third and fourth lines have a different rhyme. The meter is typically anapestic, with two unstressed syllables followed by a stressed syllable, giving the poems a bouncy and lighthearted rhythm.

The Genius of CGP

CGP, a leading educational publisher in the UK, is the mastermind behind these Loony Limericks. Known for their witty and engaging educational resources, CGP has brought their comedic flair to the world of poetry.

The team of writers at CGP has crafted these limericks with impeccable timing, clever wordplay, and a touch of the absurd. The result is a collection of poems that are both educational and laugh-out-loud funny.

Examples of Loony Limericks

To give you a taste of the hilarity that awaits you, here are a few examples of Loony Limericks:

- There once was a sheep named Fred,
Whose wool was so white, it was said.
But one day in the rain,
It turned into a stain,
And now he's just a raspberry red.
- A pirate named Captain Jack,
Had a parrot that talked smack.
It would cuss and it swore,
And even made the crew roar,
Until it got hit with a flying tack.
- A teacher named Mrs. Bloom,
Had a class full of students with gloom.
She tried to make them laugh,
But they just made her quaff,
A large pint of whiskey in her room.
